Board of Adjustment

I am entering an appeal under the zoning ordinance to grant me consent to allow me to build a garage taller than the existing limit of 16 feet. The reason for consideration is based upon the following information. I own a very small house, less than 950 square feet. Storage is very limited. Due to the size of my lot, I only have room for an 18 foot wide building which will be barely enough room for my car, lawnmower and a few tools. I retired last year and have a few woodworking hobbies as well as some other interests and need a space for me to pursue these endeavors. The basement is small and already filled with storage items. Additionally, my Rosemary suffers from two chronic illnesses - Crones Disease and migraine headaches that frequently require me to keep everything fairly quiet in the house so I need an outside space. I see a potential loft as a place that I could set up my woodworking tools where it would not disturb her or my neighbors and would provide me with a small haven in the winter time. I have spoken with my closest neighbors to see if any of them would have any issues and none have any objection. I know that the board takes these requests most seriously and I hope that the information I have supplied will prove sufficient grounds for you to grant my appeal. I have taken a property that was in a very sad state and completely changed it for the better. I promise the board that this building will not detract from what I have already done.

Thank you for your consideration.
